Let It Rain!

In 2017 I wrote an article for the newsletter called April Showers. It was about the literal and figurative use of rain in the bible. I thought I would borrow from that for this month's contribution.

There are 58 verses in the Bible that reference rain (or lack thereof) to teach about cleansing, judgment, growth/rebirth and other topics. The first mention of rain is the story we all know from Genesis of the flooding rain that destroyed and cleansed the earth. Man had a disappointing start, exercising poor judgment and misusing the wonderful gift of free will, so we got washed away. However, God did give us a rainbow guaranteed “do over”, but as we read in the bible, so many times we did still did not get the message. Let's see – Tower of Babel, Sodom and Gomorrah, 40 years wandering in the desert, Babylonian exile, Messiah rejection and others. Apparently He is not only a God of 2nd chances, but 3rd, 4th, 5th, etc. – a just and forgiving God, who allows for some bumps along the way.

In 1 Kings Elijah prayed and the blessing of rain ended a period of extended drought of judgement. So God also withholds life giving rain to gain the attention of His wayward people. Or in the case of the Egyptians, some hail and fire raining down to finally get Pharaoh's full attention. Sometimes I wish God was bit more direct getting my attention, not with fiery rocks but maybe just a good knock on my head,

For an example of rain used figuratively, I really like the symbolism in this passage from Isaiah 45: “Shower, O heavens, from above, and let the clouds rain down righteousness; let the earth open, that salvation and righteousness may bear fruit; let the earth cause them both to sprout... That's beautiful, poetic, and moving verse making me yearn for some of that righteous rain. From the New Testament there is this well known, instructive passage from Jesus in Matthew 7: “Therefore everyone who hears these words of Mine and acts on them, may be compared to a wise man who built his house on the rock. “And the rain fell, and the floods came, and the winds blew and slammed against that house; and yet it did not fall, for it had been founded on the rock.”

What's our application here in our current situation? As a church we have seen both drought and life giving rain. Although we worry over declining attendance, God has also sprinkled many blessings on us and I believe we are built on a solid foundation that withstands stormy weather and strengthens us. Would also like to believe we are in a germination period as well and with Gods “Grace Like Rain” washing over us, we are ready to sprout forth in new directions. We know our Lord is the God of 2nd chances so we need to believe new chances to thrive are ahead.

And what a good message to deliver to our community: “Come join us, no matter how much hard rain has fallen in your life keeping you away from His “Amazing Grace”. Know that God loves you and so do we!” Let's help Him shower our neighbors and friends with His love until they also know that, “Our Savior Reigns!”

Music & Worship Ministry Team

Can you believe it's been 2 years since we last held an in-person Easter service at SHF? Let's never do that again! Please join us for our Sunrise Service on Sunday, April 4th at 7:30am in the Sanctuary. This will be followed by an Easter Breakfast in the Fellowship Hall at 8:30am. Thank you to all of our volunteers involved in our Easter services and breakfast preparation! Just a reminder . . . there will be no Life Application classes that morning. Our traditional Sunday morning worship service will begin at 10:00am. We hope to see you there!

The Music & Worship Ministry Team would like to thank all those who came out to our Movie Night in March. We will host another Movie Night in April. This one is called Letters to God, the story of a troubled mailman who befriends the family of a boy who copes with cancer by writing daily notes to God.

Story Behind the Hymn . . .

As we have with previous newsletters, we will continue to share the stories behind some of the most popular hymns and worship songs we often sing on Sunday mornings.

“He Lives” – Alfred Ackley (1933)

(by Pam Griffin of The Destin Log (thedestinlog.com) and Diana Leigh Matthews)

One of the most popular of 20th century songs, and not just for Easter, is the hymn “He Lives.” Written by Alfred Ackley in 1933, the song is also known by its first line, “I Serve a Risen Savior.”

*“I serve a risen Savior, He’s in the world today;
I know that He is living, whatever men may say;
I see His hand of mercy; I hear His voice of cheer,
And just the time I need Him, He’s always near.”*

Ackley, born in 1887 in Pennsylvania, showed great musical potential as a child. He was tutored by his musician father and then went to New York City to study before going on to the Royal Academy of Music in London. There, Ackley played the piano, cello, and showed great promise as a composer. After completing his musical training, Ackley returned to the states and was ordained as a Presbyterian minister in 1914. Ackley pastored in Wilkes-Barre and Elmhurst, Pennsylvania before being called to a congregation in Escondido, California. For a few years he worked with evangelist Billy Sunday.

While in California in 1932, Ackley began witnessing to a Jewish man who attended some of the evangelistic meetings. This young student kept saying, “Why should I worship a dead Jew?” Using the Scriptures to witness to him, Pastor Ackley began to explain to this young man that Jesus was alive. “He Lives! I tell you; He is not dead, but lives here and now! Jesus Christ is more alive today than ever before. I can prove it by my own experience, as well as the testimony of countless thousands.” The thought of our resurrected Savior was on his mind after that conversation.

After waking early to prepare his Easter Sunday message, he was amazed to hear on the radio a famous liberal preacher in New York say, “Good morning. It’s Easter! You know, folks, it really doesn’t make any difference to me if Christ be risen or not. As far as I am concerned, His body could be as dust in some Palestinian tomb. The main thing is, His truth goes marching on!” Ackley’s anger at this was displayed as he threw the radio across the room, yelling, “It’s a lie!”

During the Easter service that morning, Ackley preached with strength and urgency about the reality of Christ’s Resurrection. But later that night, he continued to dwell on his Jewish friend’s words and the sermon on the radio. It was then that his wife encouraged him to do what he did best — write a song — and then he would feel better. He turned to the passage in Mark that described Christ’s resurrection. The words “He Lives” in the passage stuck out to Ackley. He then began to write, as the words flowed from him. In moments, he was at the piano adding music to the words he’d been inspired to write and answered the question, "Why should I worship a dead Jew?"

*"He lives, He lives, Christ Jesus lives today!
He walks with me and talks with me along life's narrow way.
He lives, He lives, salvation to impart!
You ask me how I know He lives? He lives within my heart."*

As a reminder, you may choose which Life Application class you wish to attend Sunday morning. We are offering two classes with different topics of study for you to choose from, rather than always going to age-related classes. We can be inter-generational!! Everyone is invited to come. One will be held in the fellowship hall and one in the library. "God Instructs the People of God" is one option that will be taught by Marcia Troup and Steve Frick and will meet in the far end of the fellowship hall. The class meeting in the library is studying "God in the Streets of Gotham." This option will be taught by Jenn Adams and Scott Hipsher. Join us Sundays at 9 am for your choice of study!!! You may join either class at any time.

How about those LOVE memory verses? Are you enjoying them? When we work on Micah 6:8, I have a hint for you. This series of actions are alphabetized: "To ACT justly and to LOVE mercy and to WALK humbly with your God." Do you notice the action words (act, love, and walk) are in alphabetical order? I need little hints like that to help me when I am memorizing things. If you find a way to make it easier to memorize a verse, please feel free to share it with me.

Thanks,

101 THINGS GOD CAN'T DO (16-23):

16. GOD CAN'T BE PUT ON A TIME SCHEDULE.

Acts 1:7 - "And he said unto them, It is not for you to know the times or the seasons, which the Father hath put in his own power."

17. GOD CAN'T BE GIVEN A JOB HE CAN'T HANDLE.

Jeremiah 32:17 - "Ah Lord God! behold, thou hast made the heaven and the earth by thy great power and stretched out arm, and there is nothing too hard for thee."

18. GOD CAN'T GET WEARY.

Isaiah 40:28 - "Hast thou not known? hast thou not heard? that everlasting God, the Lord, the Creator of the ends of the earth, fainteth not, neither is weary?"

19. GOD CAN'T BE UNKNOWN TO THOSE WHO WANT TO KNOW HIM.

Jeremiah 29:13 - "And ye shall seek me, and find me, when ye shall search for me with all your heart."

20. GOD CAN'T LOSE ANYTHING.

John 6:39 - "And this is the Father's will which hath sent me, that of all which he hath given me I should lose nothing, but should raise it up again at the last day."

21. GOD CAN'T MAKE A LOSER.

II Corinthians 2:14 - "Now thanks be unto God, which always causeth us to triumph in Christ."

22. GOD CAN'T BE POOR.

Psalms 104:24 - "O Lord, how manifold are thy works! in wisdom hast thou made them all: the earth is full of thy riches."

23. GOD CAN'T GIVE US THE SPIRIT OF FEAR.

II Timothy 1:7 - "For God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind."

How to check out books from the Church Library:

When you enter the library and look to the left, you will see a box on top of the shelf that contains library cards that look like 3x5 index cards and some pens (picture at right).

Those are the cards that come from the inside of each book in a pocket. If you wish to take a book to read, open the front flap and find the card in the pocket. When you pull the card out, you will see the title and author of the book on top. Then below that is a column for "due date" and one for "name." Since we don't care about the due date, we just ask that you put the current date in that spot and then your name. Drop the card into the box and you are done!

When you have finished the book, just return it to the shelf in front of the box. Our librarians will handle things from that point. Just be sure to find another book to take for your reading pleasure! Feel free to take more than one book at a time if you wish. Enjoy your choice of books!

April Library Update

I heard a conversation at church recently that made me wonder if everyone knows how to check out a book from our library. So I decided to dedicate this article to walking us through the process.

The stone was rolled away from the door, not to permit Christ to come out, but to enable the disciples to go in.” -Peter Marshall

Everence

Trouble I've Seen – Changing the Way the Church Views Racism, by Drew G. I. Hart.

I have purchased this book by recommendation of Everence for our library. They say, “What if racial reconciliation doesn't look like what you expected? The high-profile killings of young Black men and women by white police officers, and the protests and violence that ensued, have convinced many white Christians to reexamine their intuitions when it comes to race and justice. In this provocative book, theologian and blogger Drew G. I. Hart places police brutality, mass incarceration, anti-Black stereotypes, poverty, and everyday acts of racism within the larger framework of white supremacy. He argues that white Christians have repeatedly gotten it wrong about race because dominant culture and white privilege have so thoroughly shaped their assumptions. He also challenges Black Christians about neglecting the most vulnerable in their own communities.”

Drew, who is Black, says, “For too long, the church has gone about its business as though nothing were wrong.” At the beginning of his chapter called Whiteness Matters, he says, “No matter where I have lived, I have eventually had to come to terms with the reality that racial hierarchy is always present, and that whiteness matters.” This statement jolted me.

After April 1st, you will find this book in our library near the check-out box on the left as you enter the library. Please check it out and read it for a real eye-opener.

Mission of the Month

The Gee family continues as our mission for Special Donations for the month of April. Curtis & Michelle are planning to go to Ecuador in July to help run and supply a VBS for the local children of the orphanage. Please keep this mission in your prayers that they are able to go this year to help these children learn about Jesus, and if you can, donate to this mission by marking your giving envelope.

Paper Hygiene Pantry

We passed out 54 bags of pantry products on March 10th. Thank you to our volunteers, Tammy, Ida Mae, and Austin! Also, thank you to our prayer warriors Jenn & Cindy!! And thank you church for your continued support for this ministry!

Easter Egg Walk

On March 27th we have planned a Easter Egg Walk for children in our community. Christian Ed, Fellowship, and others have joined together to offer this event keeping families social distanced as they walk thru 7 stations celebrating Christ arrival, death & resurrection! Each station will have a game or activity to help explain the story. Please pray for this event that we are able to share the meaning of Easter to our friends and neighbors!!

20 Ways to Save Money at Restaurants

article from Ramsey Solutions at DaveRamsey.com

We all eat to live, but many of us love to eat—especially at restaurants. There’s nothing like a good homecooked meal, but it somehow seems to taste better when you’re not the one doing the cooking. The downside? The price tag. Sure, going out to eat saves you from that pile of dirty dishes, but it doesn’t save you any money.

Here are some of our top tips and tricks that will help you save money at restaurants this year—without blowing your budget.

How to Save Money at Restaurants

1. Save half of your meal.

Before your food arrives, ask for a to-go box. When your meal gets to your table, go ahead and stash half of it in the box to enjoy later. And just like that—you got two meals for the price of one. Plus, you don’t have to worry about what to take for lunch tomorrow. Boom!

2. Use coupons.

Sign up for coupons and email alerts from your favorite restaurants. Yes, a cluttered inbox is annoying, but if you get $10 off, it’s totally worth all that email marketing. Pro tip: Create an email just for coupons! That way you won’t have to sort through it every single day.

Consider this a small step forward as you plan your restaurant spending each month. Put your coupons in an envelope and carry it with you like cash. You’ll be glad you did.

3. Do a lunch date instead.

Lunch is awesome. Not only is it cheaper, but you can also usually get extras like a soup or salad with your meal for less than the price of a main dish at dinnertime. If you want to go out at night, opt for a less expensive alternative like ice cream or coffee.

4. Get the birthday discount!

Multiply this deal by however many people are in your family. If you already know where you want to go on your special day, sign up for their online birthday club now. Then on your big day, you can bask in all the perks. Happy birthday to you!

5. Skip the coffee, tea and soda.

Remember that you’re there for the food, not the Cherry Coke. Next time you go out, ask for a cup for water and you’ll knock roughly three bucks per person off your tab. After all, water is free.

6. Skip the appetizer.

If your restaurant of choice offers free bread or chips and salsa, you may not need an appetizer to leave satisfied. Enjoy a generous helping of bottomless bread or chips and put that extra $9 toward your main entrée. See, you’re saving money already and you just walked in the door!

7. Share a meal.

Portions are crazy big in America. If you haven’t tried splitting an entrée with someone, you’ll be pleasantly surprised when you do. You’ll still be full if you share a dish, and if you need to, you could always order an extra side. Let’s be honest, you probably would have had leftovers anyway. And if you’re single or eating alone, try asking for a half portion.

8. Bring your own food.

Breweries that don’t serve food usually allow customers to bring their own. And restaurants that don’t serve alcohol often allow BYOB. Less markup, more yum.

9. Get it to go.

Instead of dining in, get your food to go and rent a movie for a cheap date. Tip the takeout person a few bucks rather than 20% of your tab, since they’re spending five minutes wrapping up your food instead of spending an hour filling drinks and getting you that unlimited salsa.

10. Order like a kid.

This one is good for your quick lunches—just be sure to respect any age limits the restaurant has (some don’t have any!). If you’re looking for something light to go, order from the kids' menu. The portions are often large enough to fuel you for a light meal, and you can sometimes trade in the toy for a bigger size entrée (or an ice cream cone)—no shame.

11. Go on a Monday or Tuesday.

The first few days of the week are notoriously slow for restaurants. Because of this, they'll usually offer specials to entice customers to fill their booths. Move your Saturday night hang to the middle of the week and you can eat a meal you already love at a better price. You'll find $10 pizzas, cheap burger deals, all-you-can-eat wings, two-for-one specials and more!

12. Avoid major holidays.

Fixed-price menus are becoming super popular for major holidays. An entrée that would cost you only $15 on a regular day is suddenly lumped in to a three-course, $49-per-person meal. If you want to go out for Valentine's Day or Mother's Day but you're afraid of the sticker shock (and the crowd), try going out the day before or even the day after!

13. Save your lunch money.

Instead of shelling out $10 for a greasy lunch three times a week, bring dinner leftovers to work and put that money toward a quality meal with your special someone. It'll make all those times you had to scarf down the contents of a paper bag worth it.

14. Avoid the sports bar.

Watch your sports at home, where the snacks are pre-purchased. If you go out, chances are you'll end up watching TV and eating (and spending) mindlessly.

15. Kids eat free.

We still pay full price whether our little ones pick at their food or clean their plates. And when they eat one piece of broccoli from a meal that cost you $10, it's hard to keep that smile on your face. But when the kids eat free? Well, that puts everyone's mind at ease. Plenty of restaurants offer free (or nearly free) meals for kids under 12 on certain nights of the week. Your kiddos can also score freebies at some dining spots by showing off their A/B report card or sporting a team uniform after a game.

16. Hit up happy hour.

You've probably heard that appetizers are a waste of money, and they can be—unless you use this little trick.

Grab dinner on the early side, and eat half-priced appetizers as your entrée. Just be sure to check ahead of time and see what time their happy hour prices start (every place is different). Best of all, if you order a sampler platter or a few appetizers to share with a group of friends, you'll get to sample the full menu for a cheaper price and a shorter wait time. (#winning)

17. Prioritize outings based on your plans.

The calendar is your restaurant budget's best friend—trust us. So, at the start of each week, take a look at what you've got going on. Do you have dinner plans with friends on Friday? Does it look like you'll need to snag lunch out in the midst of a crazy Saturday? Eat at home the rest of the week, and you'll be set! Or pack yourself a meal for Saturday lunch to make room for a Sunday date with your spouse. A little planning goes a long way.

18. Cut down on convenience buys.

Let's be real, the biggest drain on our restaurant budget comes from quick and impulse buys. You know the type: easy drive-through orders, last-minute pizza deliveries, and the inevitable "I don't feel like cooking" dinner at the local Mexican restaurant. Set yourself up for success by keeping quick and healthy snacks in your car, and stock your kitchen with some frozen pizzas.

19. Don't skimp on tipping.

Sure, you want to save money on your final bill, but don't get stingy and cut corners on the tip. If you're going out to eat, you need to be prepared to tip—plain and simple. Find other ways to cut back on your food cost (like BOGO offers and coupons), but still be a good tipper. And if you don't want to cough up the extra money for a tip, then opt for a restaurant that doesn't have servers bringing you food (think Chipotle and places like that).

20. Always do a budget.

This is the month you're finally going to say no to blowing the restaurant budget. That means you may not be able to swing by the coffee shop on your way to work, accept last-minute lunch plans with friends, and take the kids out for pizza after soccer practice. So, each month before the next month begins, sit down with your spouse and do a zero-based budget. Look at your month realistically and don't forget to create a line item for eating at your favorite restaurants.
